

Some Lansing-area Locations where Fragrance-free Products May Be Found

Friends have asked for information about where they might find fragrance-free personal products. In response, we surveyed four local stores to see which products recommended by Friends General Conference might be available locally. In the left column, you will find the list of fragrance-free products from the FGC website. To the right, you will see whether we were able to locate each product in the surveyed stores.

Don't be discouraged if none of these four stores currently carries your favorite product. There are many other retail locations; and products often can be purchased online. Also, keep in mind that other brands sometimes offer a fragrance-free option, but only those from the FGC website are considered here. It is also possible that the management of one of these stores would be willing to place a special order for you; especially if several Friends join together to purchase a carton of a particular product.

As you find a good local source for fragrance-free products, we encourage you to share your knowledge with the meeting.

From the FGC introduction to their list:

The Gathering includes people with asthma and chemical sensitivities which are triggered by fragrances. Help these Friends stay healthy by doing your best to bring fragrance-free toiletries.

This is a list of a few fragrance-free products. Many are available in co-ops and more and more mainstream drug, grocery, or department stores. There are products that claim to be fragrance-free or unscented, but include masking fragrances. Avoid any product with "fragrance" in the ingredients list.
